

5.3 – Institutional-related entities

Christendom College has a graduate school of theology, but does not have other related entities with which it shares governance or operational control.